

SCIENCE Writing Toolkit – Key Stage 1 – Writing Prompts

Writing Prompts:

The Beach Clean-Up Adventure: You and your friends go to the beach to help clean up rubbish. What do you find, and how do you make the beach clean and safe for animals?

A World with No Rubbish: Imagine a world where no one drops rubbish on the ground. What do people do to keep everything clean and tidy?

Saving the Sea Animals: You dive into the ocean to help sea creatures hurt by pollution. What do you see, and how do you help the animals?

The Forest Helpers: You and your friends visit a forest and discover the trees are in trouble. How do you help them grow strong again?

The Big Bee Garden: You decide to plant a special garden just for bees. What kind of flowers do you plant, and how does the garden help the bees?

The Rubbish-Eating Machine: You invent a machine that eats up rubbish to make the world cleaner. How does the machine work, and what happens when you use it?

SCIENCE Writing Toolkit – Key Stage 1 – Sentence Starters

Here's a bank of sentence starters that can be used as prompts or to help you get started with your writing based on the provided writing ideas:

Sentence starters to help you get going...

As we picked up the rubbish from the beach, we noticed that...

The sea animals looked much happier after we helped by...

In the world with no rubbish, everything was so clean because people always...

The forest trees were weak, so we decided to help them by...

When the rubbish-eating machine started working, it quickly began to...

We planted colourful flowers in the bee garden so that the bees could...

The ocean water was clearer after we removed the...

Everyone in the town worked together to make sure that...

The animals in the forest began to come back when we...

The bees buzzed around the garden, collecting pollen from the...